Lani Shells Hawaii

Nani Shells was created in 2013 by a little mermaid on Maui chasing the tides that flow with her dreams. The saltiness of the ocean mist and sand between her toes is what makes her feel alive and her jewelry keeps her connected to her true love, the ocean. Her adventures in paradise have led her to many secluded beaches filled with colorful ocean treasures that inspire her beach minimalist jewelry designs.

Nani shell earrings

Handmade polymer clay earrings. Muted lavender tones. Textured with seashell restored from Hawaiian beaches. Gold accents.

Sustainably packaged with recycled cardboard.

'Ohana - 8x10 Matted Print (11x14)

Fatherhood has me looking for inspiration some unlikely places. Here's to those moms and dads living the outdoor dream with your little ones and furry friends in tow. Like paddling out in Waikiki? There's a peek-a-boo view of Diamond Head crater in the background.

Cultivate Hawai'i

We are Merlin and Katie Edmonds, two friends with the shared passion of nature, design, conservation, and entrepreneurship.

When we started Cultivate Hawai'i, we did so knowing we would only offer products made with quality and integrity. Products that not only met our standards for inspiring creativity and beauty, but also met our environmental and worker-rights based standards for production. That's why we work hard to

Waimea Bay

These all-natural flour-sack cotton towels are soft, absorbent, and infuse tropical flair to any kitchen or house.

All of our tea towels are made with high quality flour sack cotton and printed with water based inks.

Additionally, all towels are washed and pre-shrunk prior to shipping, allowing the size and shade of each tea towel to vary slightly.

Jana Lam

Jana Lam's goal is to create lifestyle accessories to emulate an endless summer no matter your zip code. The signature pastel hues of her designs certainly drum up visions of vibrant sunsets and the printed flora and fauna on each piece – everything from fanny packs to beach wraps, and pillows to pouches – pay tribute to native Hawaiian plants.

In her latest collab, Lam teamed up with fellow Hawaii-based small business, Plant Sax, to create
